

A year in which a married couple share a blog but not the same continent.

Christy

Christy is professional artist currently spending the year in China on a Fulbright grant.

Chris

Chris is a professional technology tinkerer, currently working as a programmer. As a remote worker, he is spending part of the year slowly touring around the American South West on his scooter (Piaggio BV350).